

you will see how drastically his attitude changed. His drinking was sporadic. When he was writing he did not drink.

I have enclosed two pictures of Elizabeth — one the Post-Dispatch shot of her when she and Star were married. He was in St Louis for lung surgery performed by Dr. Graham — the man who started all the cigaret to-do. Graham was a friend of Dr. Beckman who said Martha Gelhorn was a bitch. I've tried to recall another comment he made but it eludes me. Beckman was a psychiatrist and one of my closest friends. The remark had to do with Martha's ruinous influence. He obviously considered her a menace to young men.

There is also a picture of Virginia. You can see she is less attractive than Elizabeth. They were from a family of doctors, neither one wanted to enter that field but did so because of family pressure.

Elizabeth was running a commercial art
