Dear Beulah:

A note to enclose with Elizabeth:

Why not come to see us? What Elizabeth says I second heartily!

I have been neglectful of writing to you because of trying to write on a book - I'm doing fair on that.

I had your card about the Wolfe piece.

All I can say is that I believe professors tear up the guys who can write books - they tear 'em into more pieces than the poor guys ever had in 'em.
Ah well!

Edna Rizer sent you a piece about

Dad - rather one <sup>no</sup> which he was mentioned

I couldn't even remember the Harveys but it was a nice little tribute to my father + your brother.

It's hotter than that.

Anyway love,

Stan
